

If any media corporation decided to pre-empt programming to force their stations to air Fahrenheit 9/11, the FCC would most assuredly block the action, as well they should. The same stands true for the need to stop Sinclair Broadcasting from airing an editorial presentation and distortion of film footage without journalistic balance or historical fact finding concerning Presidential candidate, John Kerry.

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation. Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. It is the responsibility of the FCC to insure that the public interest is being served by insuring that federal election laws are being adhered to, especially where it concerns media.

Please stop Sinclair's plan to broadcast an editorial piece which it is presenting as "news". It is not news, it is opinion.
